BIG DEMONSTRATION IS PLANNED AT ELLSWORTH

First Aid Work to Feature Celebration Next Tuesday

NOTABLES ARE COMING

Governor Tener and Number of Noted Mine Bureau Officials to be on Hand

Tuesday of next week is confidently expected to be one of the greatest field days Ellsworth has ever experienced. On that day will be held the third annual first aid demonstration of the Ellsworth and Cokeburg Collieries company employees. Prof. E. E. Bach, sociological superintendent and superintendent of the schools there and at Cokeburg, will have charge of the demonstration. The professor inaugurated the first aid work at Ellsworth three years ago and his success since, along this line has been wonderful. He has live men in his team whom he has imbued with his own enthusiasm and they are right up to the mark.

Ellsworth hums like a bee-hive with preparations. W. E. Lahm, superintendent of the Ellsworth and Cokeburg Coal and Coke Co. is in hearty co-operation with Prof. Bach. Mr. Lahm is especially interested in the musical part of the programme as the Boy's Brass Band and the Concert Band of both towns, on whose development he has put his whole heart will be one of the star attractions of the day. Prof. Bach will be further assisted by the following: George Lindsey, assistant superintendent of the Ellsworth and Cokeburg Collieries company, and mine foremen John McNulty, John Freeman, and Pete Playfair.

The demonstration will be participated in by 80 men comprising 20 teams of six men each. There will also be a thrilling demonstration of mine rescue work by three teams of six men each who have been especially trained in the use of the self contained oxygen apparatus. This demonstration will be executed by men from both towns under the supervision of C. A Miller, master mechanic at Ellsworth. The first aid demonstration will be under the direction of assistant superintendent George Lindsey.

The events of the afternoon will be inaugurated at two o'clock with a grand march by the children of the schools of Ellsworth and Cokeburg followed by tamborine drills, butterfly drills, and various exercises by the school children, who have been working hard for the past few weeks in preparation. These exercises will be in charge of Prof. J. W. Sprowls, and E. C. Snyder, the principals of the schools of both towns. They are being assisted by the grade and high school teachers. The Boy Scouts in charge of M. H. Moran, and the Camp Fire Girls in charge of Miss Martha Shanck, will also participate in these exercises.

Special trains will bring in a large contingent from out of town. On one special train will arrive Governor John K. Tener, with representatives from the United States Bureau of Mines, representatives from the Department of Public Instruction at Harrisburg, and the company officials with their wives and friends from New York City, Buffalo, N. Y., Pittsburg, Pa., and other cities. Another special train will arrive from Cokeburg bringing the Cokeburg men with their families. With these trains, the new street car line from Charleroi, and automobile parties from all over the western section of the state and the neighboring states, the attendance will be a record breaker. The special train bringing the governor, company officials and other representatives, will arrive at ten o'clock Tuesday morning. An inspection of the works, the schools and the other points of interest in the town will be made, and at

COUNCIL HOLDS A SESSION

Complaints Are Heard at Short Thursday Evening Session

ORDINANCES HELD OVER

The borough council held a short session Thursday night, during which time a number of complaints were heard. None of the ordinances were considered owing to the compelled absence of councilmen W. R Gaut and D. R. Hormell.

Wilham Hudspith complained that water was running across his lot on Shady avenue near Sixth street. The matter was referred to the borough engineer with instructions to have the street commissioner take care of the matter. Representatives of Twelfth street families were present relative to sewers for their property. No action was taken.

Petitions signed by property owners on Lookout avenue were presented both for and against the grading of Lookout avenue from Second street north 160 feet. Council ordered that the street be graded.

T. D. Williamson complained of leakage in the water line on Lincoln avenue. The matter was referred to the fire and water committee. Borough Engineer Harvey Brown asked council to put a helper on regular salary for the remainder of the year. The matter was left with him to use his own judgment. Council adjourned to meet September 24.

FREYE AN AMERICAN AND PROUD OF IT

Charleroi Man Just Back From Germany Sees Enough of War Business to Make Him Sad ---Tells of Experiences

"When I stepped on the soil at Hoboken, New Jersey, a few days ago I felt just like a Dutch prince," said Fritz Freye, who arrived at his home here in Charleroi Thursday, having returned from a trip to Europe. He said that the more he thought about the war the more he rejoiced in the fact that he was in America once more, far from the scene of conflict.

Mr. Freye arrived at his home at Frankfort-on-the-Main in Germany on July 29. War was declared August 1. He said that the days which followed were gloomy days in the history of Germany. The hardships which the people had to undergo were past comprehension for any one that did not pass through them. He said that the conditions are not normal. Improved.

The first draft from Frankfort-on-the-Main was for 5,000 men. Of this draft more than half have been slain on the battle field. Women and children are fast taking the places vacated by the men and boys who were forced to go to the front.

For ten days or longer it was impossible for civilians to leave the town. They were not allowed to board the trains, they being used exclusively to move troops. Mr. Freye stated that he felt much relieved when he had gotten away from the troubled territory and was bound for the United States.

PACKET LORENA IN RIVER TRADE

Steamer Brought From Lower River Makes Stop at Local Wharf

HANDLES EXCURSION

The Lorena, the steamboat that was to have been placed in the Monongahela river this summer in packet service, will leave the local wharf for Pittsburg this evening about 8 or 9 o'clock. She passed through here on Wednesday with an excursion party from Pittsburg to Fairmont. Thursday she took the Fairmont Elks on an excursion trip to Point Marion. She left Morgantown this morning at 8 o'clock.

The boat may be continued in the river service but this matter will not be determined until upon her return to Pittsburg and a report is made by the captain as to the time made on the trip.

NO GAY HOSE FOR FRESHMAN GIRLS

Shapely Limbs of Monongahela Lasses Must be Encased in Somber Colors

UPPER CLASSES SAY SO

An edict that only black hose and nothing too gay in style of this variety shall be worn by freshmen girls of the Monongahela high school has been issued by girls of the upper classes there. Moreover the rule has been enforced. This week some of the haughty young freshmen lasses insisted upon appearing in school with their shapely limbs encased in the whitest of stylish white hose. Upper class girls promptly corralled all of the offending persons and escorted them to the home of the sophmores where the provisions of the edict were carried out. They weren't particular that the hose with which they replaced the white were pretty silk, but made some of the "feshies" be content with less expen-

LATE WAR BULLETINS

London, Sept. 18.—Another great battle, involving between 2,000,000 and 3,000,000 men, even more vital for the countries concerned than those which have preceded it is now in progress on a line extending from the region of Noyon, on the river Oise, northwest of Paris to the river Meuse, north of Verdum. The Germans have fortified themselves on the mountains north of the river Ainse, through the Champagne and in the Argonne mountains through which the Meuse flows. They are in a stronger position than they were for the battle of the Marne and have been reinforced with fresh troops.

London, Sept. 18.—According to French and English official reports, the attacks of the Germans have been repulsed and the Germans compelled to give way at certain points, but the German general staff claims just the opposite. It is believed that the allies are bringing in new troops through Rouen and Amiens to threaten the German flank. Nearly the whole of northwest France is now open to the allies. Field Marshall Kitchener, secretary of state of war, says that the tide has turned. He admits that the war may be a long one, but appears to be hopeful of the outcome.

Berlin, Sept 18—The German army headquarters officially report that the French front is unchanged. French attacks at a number of points have been successfully repulsed by the Germans, who made a number of victorious counter attacks. Owing to illness General von Hausen, 68 years old, has been replaced at the front by former war minister, General von Einem. General von Schubert was replaced in the Fourteenth reserve corps, by Quartermaster General Stein, editor of the official war reports.

London, Sept. 18— Reports from Petrograd and such independent sources as Rome and Bucharest tend to confirm, or paint in gloomier colors, the critical position of the Austrian armies in Galicia. These armies, which set out to arrest the advance of the Russian army have had the tables turned on them by the Russian generals Ruzsky and Brussiloff. They have abandoned Lemberg, are now leaving stronghold Przemsyl behind them and retiring to Cracow. Russian correspondents say that the Austrians have lost all discipline: the aim of the men being across the Carpathians. Austria is calling all men available for military service.

Petrograd, Sept. 18—Eight army corps, 320,000 men, that Germany sent east to repel the Russians in east Prussia and strengthen the Austrian army in Galicia have been withdrawn and are being rushed to the western theatre of war. It is believed that Germany is going to use these forces for a final, terrific blow in an attempted to shatter the allies resistance in France.

Washington, Sept. 18—Germany has suggested informally that the United States should undertake to elicit from Great Britian, France and Russia a statement of the terms under which the allies would make peace. The suggestion was made by Imperial Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg to Ambassador Gerard, at Berlin, as a result of an inquiry sent by the American government to learn whether Emperor William was desirous of discussing peace.

High Degrees Conferred Upon Seventy Candidates and Banquet is Held

Knights of Malta visitors from various points along the valley gathered in Charleroi Thursday evening, the occasion being the conferring of ten of the higher degrees on a class of 70 candidates by Valley Echo Commandery No. 378 of Charleroi.

Grand Past Commander, A. Corns, of Uniontown, was in charge of the ceremonies in the conferring of degrees. District Deputy Park Stevens, of this valley assisted in the work.

Following the degree work a supper was served in the former postoffice rooms in the Bank of Charleroi building. Plates were laid for about 150 persons.

BARGES ON RIVER NOW AVAILABLE

Coal Trade Along Monongahela Shows Betterment as Result

RIVERMEN ARE BUSY

From the amount of coal that has been shipped through Lock No. 4 during the last two weeks the indications are that the shipments for this month will be much larger than for August. The shipments will probably not be as large as they were in September, 1913, but will be more than the average this season.

More boats have resumed operations in the last two weeks. The most of the coal that is being shipped now is for local trade, being unloaded at Duquesne, McKeesport and other nearby points. Several hundred barges have been unloaded and there is no shortage of barges now.

One reason that is given for the coal trade improvement is that many of the people are now putting in their winter supply of coal. The coal shipments have been light all season, and this return to activities on the part of the shippers will be welcomed by the miners.

CHURCH SERVICES TO BE CONCLUDED

This evening Rev. Logan Hall, pastor of the Roscoe church, and a young man of considerable ability will preach at the Methodist Episcopal church. This will be the last service before the communion service on Sunday. This is also the last of the series of special services which are being held in the Methodist Episcopal church this week. Rev. Hall will take as his subject for tonight, "Dependence."

Rev. R. L Erhard, of Donora, preached last night. His theme was "The Duty of Being Angry," and he took as his text, "Be Ye Angry and Sin Not." He handled his subject in an unique manner. The service was an enique manner.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church will hold a market Saturday, September 19, in the former postoffice building. 64t2

Nitroglycerine Used for Deadly Purpose at Axleton

J. LAZZARI ESCAPES

Little Damage Done by Explosion Which is Heard Long Distance Away

Nitroglycerine was exploded under the wholesale liquor establishment of J. Lazzari at the east end of the Monongahela bridge in Axleton this morning at 1:30 o'clock in an apparent effort to wreck the place and end the life of the owner. The building was not much damaged and the proprietor was not much hurt.

From the position that the explosive was placed it would appear that the perpetrators of the drastic crime were seeking more the life of Mr. Lazzari than the destruction of the property. It was placed directly beneath his sleeping apartments. Had the instrument of destruction been placed under the other corner of the building many thousands of dollars worth of property would doubtless have been destroyed.

Damage amounting to over $1,000 was done. The plate glass front and all the windows in the building were shattered. The building which is a large three-story buff brick is valued at about $32,000. It has been completed since the first of the year. Mr Lazzari procured his license the first of May.

Mr. Lazzari does not think that the attempted destruction of his property was due to members of the Black Hand society, but rather to some people who he says, "can not stand to see his prosperity." He stated this morning that he had never received any threatening letters.

The explosion was heavy, and was plainly heard in Monongahela and the surrounding territory. One person from Monongahela in speaking of it this morning stated that it sounded as if the world had come to an

MADE THE WORLD BRIGHTER

Music Lovers Everywhere Acknowledge the Debt They Owe Felix Mendelssohn.

What musician does not love the name of Felix Mendelssohn? Those fortunate enough to hear symphonies and oratorios have revelled in the beauties of his greater works such as The Scotch Symphony, "A Calm Sea and Prosperous Voyage," the Fingal's Cave, and other overtures, St. Paul and the Elijah, which is so dramatic, it has lately been given with stage settings. The music to Midsummer Night's Dream makes Shakespeare's fairy comedy even more enjoyable than before. We realize more fully the lightsome grace of tiny elves, the merry jests of Puck, and above all the happy union of Oberon and Titania. Their Wedding March voices the note of joy at how many a nuptial gathering, from those held in stately cathedrals with crowned heads attending, to those taking place in some remote village chapel where simple villagers form the bridal procession.

Many a woman's chafed spirit finds relief in playing those gems for the piano called Songs Without Words.

Mendelssohn's father, having embraced Christianity, desired Felix to add his mother's name Bartholdy to his own decidedly Jewish appellation. The full signature, Felix Mendelssohn Bartholdy appears after some compositions, but Mendelssohn, the Musician, belongs neither to Judaism nor to Christianity, but to the whole happy world of music lovers.

SHRINE TO BRING BUFFALO

Ancient Indian Ceremonial in Times of Drought and Famine Now in Philadelphia.

No longer fulfilling its ancient purpose of charm to provide large buffalo herds for the Indian of the plains there is on exhibition at the University of Pennsylvania museum a sacred shrine of the Hidatsa Indians, which has been added to the Heye collection of American ethnological objects. It is believed to be the only shrine of its nature ever erected by the Indians.

The shrine was set up in a large earthen-covered hut near the line between Montana and the Dakotas. It consists of four posts stuck into the ground, on which rest two shelves. On the lower shelf is a very ancient buffalo skull resting in a bed of leaves from the pennyroyal plant. On the upper shelf are two human skulls painted red.

It was the custom of the natives to make gifts to the shrine whenever they wanted the gods to answer a prayer.—Philadelphia Dispatch to the New York Sun.

Doctors Lose by Telephone.

"Do you know," said the doctor apologetically to the patient waiting in his office, "that this prescribing by 'phone is becoming a serious business for us doctors. Now, if I had no 'phone I would be called to the house and I would charge my regular fee for a visit. But if I attempted to charge for prescribing over the telephone I would be thought an extortionist. Yet there is no reason why I should not be paid for my advice over the telephone just as much as if I sat at the patient's bedside and prescribed. Take, for instance, a case which should be watched for three or four days. Instead I'm told, 'we'll call you, doctor, if there is any change.' And then proceed to call me over the telephone, give me the symptoms and ask what is to be done. Of course, there is no excuse for going to the patient's side after the telephone bulletin, unless there is a turn for the worse. So I'm cut right out of a fee for a visit. I believe that we physicians should get together and agree to charge a certain sum for prescribing over the telephone."

Artist and Parvenu.

Phil Morris, the eminent portrait painter, who died when his fame was at its height, had a very unpleasant experience whilst visiting a wealthy merchant who had commissioned him to paint his wife and baby for the sum of £700. The first evening Mr. Morris and his "employer" were discussing the "pose," and the artist, thinking that he had hit on a brilliant suggestion, said it would be effective if the child were lying on the hearthrug with just a vest on, and his mother leaning over, playing "This little pig went to market."

"How dare you, sir! Do you wish to insult me?" I've half a mind to countermand my order," roared the irate wealthy magnate. Poor Phil Morris couldn't think what harm he had done until a few days later he learned that his patron had made his money in "pork," and was known as the "bacon king."

Method of Spearing Fish.

In spite of the march of civilization, there remains much that is still primitive in Sicily, and a curious sight at Palermo is to see the fishermen spearing fish in the harbor by the aid of glass-bottomed buckets (says the Wide World Magazine). There are many corners of the world where fish are speared, but perhaps the use of the glass-bottomed bucket in this connection is to be seen only at Palermo. The fishermen lean far over the side of their boats, and hold the bucket on the water with one hand, poking their heads into it as if engaged in the Hallowe'en game of ducking for apples. They hold a spear poised in the free hand, and thus await the arrival of their victims, who are sighted through the glass bottom of the bucket, which acts as a kind of telescope.

Epworth Leagues to Meet

The Epworth Leagues of Monongahela sub-district No. 6 will hold their fall rally at Scenery Hill on Sunday, September 20. A strong program has been prepared. Among the speakers will be C. A. Tushingham of Pittsburg, and Rev. Harry B. Mansell, principal of the Anglo-Chinese school at Singapore, Malaysia. Many of the district officers will be in attendance including the president, Wm. Hogg of the Central Y. M. C. A., Pittsburg. The Scenery Hill league will serve lunch to all visitors. Big Deal For Real Estate Consummated

Through a deal just consummated J. Y. Binns, special real estate agent for the Monongahela railroad at Brownsville and James M. Clark, of Fayette City, became the owners of a beautiful farming tract near Alicia. They purchased the George Crawford farm which consists of 150 acres of the most fertile soil in this territory. The deal was closed between Messrs. Binns and Clark with the Crawford heirs at Beallsville. The consideration paid was not made public.

Strictly Logical.

Professor Sudbury, who was extremely near-sighted, went to the barber's, sat down in the barber's chair, took off his glasses, and allowed himself to be shaved. When the artist was done with him he did not move and for a while nobody disturbed him. But other customers began to arrive and the chair was needed. The head barber, suspecting that his learned patron had fallen asleep, asked his boy to wake him. The professor overheard the order.

"No, my good man," he said, "I am not asleep. The fact is I am frightfully near-sighted. When I took my glasses off just now I was no longer able to see myself in the mirror opposite. Naturally I supposed I had already gone home."

Too Complex for an Ordinary Mind.

"Only one man in ten thousand clearly understands the currency question!" declared old Uncle Fogy. "I am sure of it, b'cuz that is just about the proportion of the people I talk with about it who agree with me."—Kansas City Star.

Football Men Busy at Pitt

University of Pittsburgh's football forces have now been in training two weeks at "Camp Hamilton," at Windber, and with the largest and best squad of candidates the Blue and Gold ever had, Head Coach J. M. Duff, Jr., expects to be able to give the university another winner. The opening game is with Cornell university at Ithiaca, September 26 and the Pitt boys will be well prepared for it. Scrimmage work has been going on for the last ten days and all the new candidates are showing up well. Among the most likely new men are Carlson, of Fayette City, captain of the Bellefonte Academy's team last year, an end; Harrington of Conway Hall, end; De Hart and Hastings, Kiski backfield stars; Harry McCarter, star all around athlete of Beaver Falls High; Fry, captain of the Freshman team last year, fullback; Miller of Wyoming Seminary, Kingston, a half; Cliff Morrow, halfback of Indiana Normal School; Truxal, center, Greensburg High; McClelland, tackle, Salem high school; Matson, tackle, Slippery Rock Normal; Craig, tackle, Butler High School; Sutherland, tackle, Oberlin prep school.

All the old men are showing up well, there being 15 of the 18 letter men in camp. Leo Collins, one of the 1913 ends, joined the squad the last week and may be tried at tackle. Peck is being used at center and is giving Shapira, last years center, the fight of his life. Peck played the backfield last year and is one of the most aggressive performers on the squad. He weighs 180 pounds and has the ideal build for center.

Blood Stain Convicted Them.

A French professor has discovered quite recently a way of detecting such a tiny quantity of blood as to be almost inconceivable. Here is an instance of what can be done. Two soldiers, Graby and Michel, murdered a Mme. Gouin in a railway carriage and afterward washed their hands and dried them on the roller towel in the lavatory on board the train.

The two murderers, frightened by a tiny spot of blood from their hands on the towel, thoroughly washed it and hung it up to dry. Apparently the towel was spotlessly clean; yet Dr. R. A. Reiss, the famous French scientist, was able to detect that the towel had been blood-stained, and so to convict the two murderers.

For a Contented Heart.

The blind Mme. de Deffand rejoiced that her affliction was not rheumatism; Spurgeon's receipt for a contented heart was never to chew pills, but to swallow the disagreeable and have done with it; Darwin's comfort was that he had never consciously done anything to gain applause; and Jefferson never ceased affirming his belief in the satisfying power of common daylight, common pleasures and all the common relations of life. Essipoff, when commiserated on the smallness of her hands, insisted that longer ones would be cumbersome. Robert Shauffler's specific for a blue Monday is to whistle all the Brahms tunes he can remember. Doctor Cuyler, when very ill, replied to a relative's suggestion of the glorious company waiting him above, "I've got all eternity to visit with those old fellows; I am in no hurry to go;" and old Aunt Mandy, when asked why she was so constantly cheerful, replied, "Lor' chile, I jes' wear this world like a loose garment."—Lucy E. Keeler in the Atlantic.

Senator Penrose charges that the immaculate Dean Lewis has withdrawn from the Washington party ticket in favor of Vance McCormick, the Democratic candidate under promise of political reward if the latter is elected governor.

If this be true, it only proves that some of the best men are quick to become politicians when they get to politics, and it may cause the voter to wonder how much higher violent protestations of public virtue are to be appraised above the common pretensions of the ordinary candidate, who confesses to being a good party man and expects if elected to be an honest official, says the Connellsville Courier.

It is not likely, however, that the voter will speculate. This is not a good year for political hair-splitting. The people are in no mood to listen to labored explanations of the past and glowing promises of the future. The Democratic administration has been tried and found wanting. The country is in distress. The common judgment of the common people is that it's about time to get back to the reservation.

That's where they are headed this fall and their ears are deaf to the clamor of the Scribes and Pharisees.

OTHER ARRANGEMENTS.

Every editor has just received a "Refused Notice." For instance there is a man by the name of John Blank who refused to take his paper out of the postoffice. He did not want it any longer and we wondered what was wrong, says the New Castle Herald. Upon investigation of subscription books it was found that John was short $5.50. He stopped the paper as a matter of economy to the publishers. One evening we went to church and John's melodious voice rang out loud and clear in that stirring song. "Jesus Paid It All." We might have been mistaken, but John's earnestness impressed us. The next day we sent him a receipt in full, begging his pardon for not knowing he had made arrangements for his liabilities in that manner.

DAYTON SHOWS WAY.

Many cities are finding their expenses exceeding their income. It is a common complaint, but the city of Dayton, Ohio, sets an example to all cities and all governments by acting on the principle that the way to avoid a deficit is to cut down expenses.

The city manager of that thriving Ohio city when confronted by a shortage in the revenue of the city, took the ground that as the city had so much income it was bound to keep its expenses within that income and he proceeded to cut down expenes on that principle. The Philadelphia Press discusses the matter:

Apparently he stands almost alone among public executives in taking that ground, although it is the only sound and justifiable ground a public executive can take. We are threatened with a deficit in the national revenue and the only recommendation that has come from any official source is to pile on more taxes. The income of the many cities fall short of the demands upon them yet the only remedy proposed is increased taxes. This is a common failing of those in control, but the new manager for Dayton shows them the right way.

Cut down expenses where they are running too high for the revenue. It is what is done and must be done in every normal business that is not headed straight for bankruptcy. The business of government is a class by itself since it has power to levy new taxes to meet its extravagance, but the possession of power is no justification for abuse of power. All classes of government should be run on true business principles and this always means cutting power. All classes of government economy to avoid a deficit. The Ohio manager shows a way to do this which should be the first duty of all executives who have the expenditure of the public money, whether in national, state or city government.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

The story of a practical joke the author of which was the son of a Monongahela hotel keeper has leaked out. His father and the clerk of the hotel were victims.

One night recently the young man procured from a friend in a store a woman "dummy." He took her to a certain room of the hotel and carefully placed her in bed there. This done he stealthily left a note at the clerk's office, the call dating 7 o'clock in the morning.

When morning came the clerk attempted to arouse the occupant of the room. He rapped first easily on the door and then harder and harder rained blows upon it in an effort to awaken the sleeping beauty. Thoughts of possible complications and perhaps a suicide filled his mind. Getting a chair he peered through the transom and knocked more. The woman never moved.

The hotel keeper was called into consulation. He too knocked loudly at the door, until nearly everyone in the hotel was awake, excepting the one he considered should have been. After he had peered through the transom and observed the littered condition of the room—thoughtfully arranged by the youthful practical joker and a friend—he concluded to break in the door.

He was halted by a thought as to the proper course. After pondering a moment the hotel keeper decided it was a case for official action. An undertaker was called as the chief of the investigating committee. The door was broken open and the trick discovered.

In an adjoining room the young perpetrator of the joke had been enjoying the fun. But when his irate father attempted to locate him, he found the door tightly locked. Likewise the friend of the practical joker who had loaned the dummy found it necessary to lock up his place of business and retire to the rear of the establishment for the time being.

The teacher of a Sunday school class of young women one Sunday recently speaking of the subject of love and its effects told the story of a young woman whose mind had given way through disappointments in love. Her disappointments came after she had kept company for 10 years with a certain young man.

"Who do you think was in the wrong?" queried one of the members of the class.

The teacher asked them each of the members of the class as to their opinion.

"I think the girl was in wrong," one stourly replied. "All there is to it, she should have asked him long before ten years whether he meant business or not."

Before and After

Settled the Vicar.

To test the safety of the church steeple a country vicar climbed it with a scaling ladder—a feat requiring no small amount of nerve. He was proud of his achievement and talked rather more about it than was, perhaps, consistent with modesty. He even, at a meeting of his parishioners, described, with a wealth of detail, his feelings while aloft.

"When I reached the top and saw the huge golden weathercock gleaming in the sunlight, what do you think I did?" he asked.

An old farmer, who looked the picture of boredom, hazarded a guess.

"You cheated the weathercock," he said.

"What do you mean, sir?" sharply demanded the vicar.

"Why, you did it out of the job of crowing," the unperturbed old farmer replied.

Elephant's View of Life.

The elephant flapped his ears and sighed so impressively that the yellow dust in the alley way was considerably agitated.

"To think," he confidentially remarked to the toothless tiger, "that my ancestors fought with Hannibal and graced a Roman holiday!"

"What's the answer?" snarled the tiger.

"Dust and desolation," snorted the elephant. "I have in my veins the blood of the white mammoths of Upsala, and yet am forced, forsooth, to pose with a lot of mangy and moth-eaten quadrupeds in a hand-made jungle, in front of a moving-picture coffee mill. Woof, but I'm sorely tempted to throttle myself with my own trunk and so make an end on't!"

Wouldn't It.

A hearty laugh had gone almost around over the story of the fisherman who, to locate the place on the lake where he had had good luck, cut a nick in the side of his boat. "Almost around," for the Englishman sat solemn and silent. About five minutes later, however, he awoke with a roar of laughter, and when asked the trouble, replied: "Well, wouldn't it be a corking good joke if that fisherman got a different boat the next time he went out!"

Nautical Operation.

The sailing tank ship Jules Henri of Marseilles recently underwent an operation at Rotterdam which transformed her into a motor tank ship. After the masts had been removed the vessel was cut in two. The parts were separated and a new section of about 50 feet placed amidships. Two Diesel motors, each of 500 horsepower, were then installed. The transformed motor tank ship now has a capacity of 3,000 tons of oil. After a first voyage to the Black sea the ship will be employed regularly between Europe and America.

AMONG THE THEATRES

ALVIN—PITTSBURG.

"A Pair of Sixes," the greatest farce success of the last 20 years, will be the attraction at the Alvin theatre the week of September 31. The farce is now being played at the Longacre Theatre, New York, where it has been upwards of a year. It is the New York company and original production that will be seen at the Alvin. Edward Peple, the author of "Five Little Peppers" and other successful plays, wrote "A Pair of Sixes," and H. H. Frazee makes the production. Mr. Frazee has been lavish in expending money both for the stage effects and in the services of the players. In the cast are Ralph Herz, Hale Hamilton, Fritz Williams, Myrtle Tannehill, Elizabeth Nelson, Maude Eburne and others.

The story of "A Pair of Sixes" revolves around two business partners who are engaged in the manufacture of a digestive pill. They cannot agree as to how the business should be conducted and after many quarrels they summon their attorney and order him to find some way to dissolve the partnership. They accomplish dissolution by a game of poker, and the loser serves as the winners butler. A pretty love story is interwoven.

GRAND—PITTSBURG.

In the Grand Opera House next week, beginning Monday afternoon, September 21, Mr. Harry Davis will present another of those brilliant bills of refined vaudeville. The program will be headed by Mr. and Mrs. Carter DeHaven and their company of five in a minature musical show of the utmost variety. Mr. DeHaven is not excelled on our stage as a musical comedy comedian, and as a dancer even Mr. Cohan himself awards the palm to his prototype. Around this attraction there will be numerous other features of stellar capacity. These will include Mr. Edwin Stevens, the distinguished legitimate actor, late of "The Devil" and of the big operative rivals, "Robin-hood" and "The Geisha," supported by Miss Tina Marshall, a charming young ingenue. Mr. Stevens will play "Two Old Men and the Devil," a musical character, review written by Junie McCree. Harry Cooper, who was featured during the past few seasons by Lew Fields will be aided by Charles Henderson in the enactment of a comedy. Billy McDermott, who bills himself as "The Only Survivor of Coxey's Army," is undoubtedly the funniest tramp comedian on our stage. Vivian Ford and Harry Hewitt, will present a burlesque on the social dancing craze. Ward Baker, violinist will play a repertoire of classical and popular music. Sundry other acts makes the program interesting.

STAR—CHARLEROI.

This has been a war week at the Star Theatre. Tuesday "War With Six Nations" was shown in two reels, depicting the horrors of this terrible struggle. Wednesday the United States-Mexican "war" was shown in three reels. "Lay Down Your Arms" in four reels, which was shown on Thursday was the leading war picture of the week. "Kronstadt," a 3 reel picture of the Russian war is the feature for Friday. Saturday refined musical pictures will be shown. This is something new and is the extra big attraction of the season. "A House Divided," a three reel 101 Bison, a thrilling love episode of the Civil war was another good picture this week.

LYRIC—CHARLEROI.

"Home, Sweet Home," a beautiful drama, typifying the life, work and death of John Howard Payne author of the song that reaches every human heart was the chief attraction of the week at the Lyric theatre. This extraordinary photoplay showed how "Home, Sweet Home" brought crucial moments into many lives and was the means of purifying and regenerating those about to give themselves up to evil or despair. Throughout the picture heart touching scenes of home life were portrayed from those of the western hills to the homes of the rich of the east. Another good feature of the week was "The Lure of the Car Wheels" a sensational dramatic picture centered around railroads. "The End of the Rope" was a thrilling story of the west dealing with Indian life. In this picture the beautiful scenery added much to the picture.

COYLE—CHARLEROI.

An exciting drama that was one of the most daring and sensational features ever portrayed was "There is a Destiny," shown at the Coyle theatre this week. The picture had in the leading role Warren Kerrigan and included several other well known stars in its cast. "The Last Edition" was an exceptionally interesting story of the efforts of members of one newspaper force to blow-up a car in order to get a big story. Of course rivals and the deadly crime exposed. "A Lucky Deception" was a comedy drama of the higher class showing the pranks of two college boys who tricked the father of the one boy into a gift of a large amount of money. "The Hedge Between," "A Bowl of Roses," "On High Seas," and "Lure of the Geisha," were other good pictures of the week. On Monday "The Man on the Box," with Max Figman in the leading role will be the feature.

PALACE—CHARLEROI.

Some splendid pictures have been shown at the Palace. Mae Hotford, who is a favorite, in great role was shown in "The Spectre of Woman" on Monday night. "The Bond Eternal" in two parts, "The Lily of the Valley" in two parts, and "The White Horse," in two parts, were all features of the week. "The Dreamer," with Romaire Fielding, in two reels, "In Twilight," a dramatic feature full of strong power, and the ninth episode of Harold McGrath's Million Dollar Mystery series made Thursday's program the feature of the week. "The Outlaws Remorse," is the feature for Saturday night. A new singer appears at the Palace every Monday night. Next Monday C. S. Richards, late musical director of the Euterpean Male Quartette and Concert company of Pittsburg, will sing, "Last Night Was the End of the World."

CHARLEROI LUMBER COMPANY HAS MANY FINE BUILDINGS TO CREDIT

Construction Company Handles Numerous Important Contracts Throughout the Entire Monongahela Valley

ERECTING NEW MILL AND OFFICE BUILDING

There are more handsome buildings in this section to be credited to the structural operations of the Charleroi Lumber Company than any other contracting firms. This company enjoys a reputation throughout this part of the state.

At the present time this company is building some large structures, among which are the Brownsville general hospital, a three-story store bzuilding in Brownsville, the Moose club house here on McKean avenue and the big theatre and office building of Eugene Fau, on Fallowfield avenue. They have a number of dwellings and other buildings at California, Brownsville, Charleroi and other points in the valley.

This company has outgrown its large two-story building on McKean avenue, and is now completing a much larger two-story fire-proof, brick building on an adjoining lot. The new building which will be used for mill and office purposes is quite an improvement to that section of the town. The main part of the building is 50 by 60 feet and the other part is 30 by 37 feet.

When the company moves into its new quarters it will have one of finest equipped planing mills in the Monongahela valley, and will employ a large force of skilled workmen. This company for several years has been able to turn out the various finishings both for its own buildings and for other contractors who depend upon it for their supplies. Over 200 men are employed in their yard and on buildings all the time.

This company controls in addition to the local plant a lumber yard in Monessen, and employes a large force of men there. It was established in 1890. In the year 1898 it was incorporated with a capital stock of $50,000. In 1905 the capital was increased to $75,000, and in 1909 it was increased to its present amount, $100,000.

The officers of the Charleroi Lumber company are as follows: J. O. Smith, president; Walter Byerly, vice-president and manager; C. W. Linn, secretary and W. H. Reese, treasurer.

The Charleroi Lumber company deals in all kinds of builders supplies and does all kinds of mill work Among the many fine examples of the company's work are the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church and the Methodist Episcopal church, the Hotel Arthur, Bank of Charleroi, Hotel Monier, Charleroi school building and many other buildings.

Work Proceeding on B. & N. Railroad in West Virginia

The clear weather of the present and the past several days has been very favorable to Buckhannon and Northern contractors who are bending every energy to get concrete and other work done on their West Virginia line before the freezes come. Augmented forces of men are being employed on all such work while the iron workers in the vicinity of the Fair grounds at Fairmont are working practically night and day, taking advantage of the weather.

At a large tunnel near Fairmont and on other sections being handled by the firm of Rinehart and Dennis, forces are doubled and every effort being made to finish up before the frosts slow up operations.

"The construction work into Fairmont is over 90 percent done" said Chief Engineer Samuel D. Brady of the company. "We are being favored by the weather and I am pushing every department to the limit. It is my intentions to have a New York Central engine in the First ward of Fairmont by the middle of December."

DR. PARKER'S TWO SERMONS

And How He Got the Morning Congregation Back to His Church at Night.

A characteristic story of Dr. Parker was told by a minister who had it from an old minister who was much interested in Joseph Parker's early work as a local preacher, says the British Weekly. One Saturday he met Parker and asked him whether he had an engagement for Sunday. "Yes," was the reply.

"Are your sermons ready, Joseph?" asked the minister.

"I have the morning sermon," was the reply, "but I am not sure about the evening."

"Well, Joseph, what is your text for the morning and how do you treat it?"

Parker went over his text and the outline of his sermon.

"But, Joseph," said the minister, "that is very clever, but it is not the real meaning of the text. If you will look at the commentaries you will see that you are wrong."

Parker thanked him and went his way. On the Monday the minister again met his friend.

"Well, Joseph, how did you get on yesterday?"

"Very well," was the reply.

"How did you manage?"

"Well," he said, "in the morning I preached my sermon and explained the text in my way, and at the close I said: 'This is how I understand it. But learned men understand it differently, and I will tell you in the evening how the learned men understand it.'"

They all came back in the evening, and Joseph had a happy day.

Christmas Feeling.

"Oh, Mr. Fipperley," she exclaimed, soulfully, "have you ever felt a dim, uneasy sense of oppression as if the mere weight of life were a burden too heavy to be borne by the chained spirit panting with psychic longing to be free?"

"I invariably have such a feeling at Christmas time," was the callous response, "but hitherto I have attributed it to pudding!"

Breadmaking Degenerating?

In these days of bakeries on every corner in town, and traveling bread wagons through the country, the fine art of breadmaking is degenerating. It is too much trouble to mix and knead and make the beautiful brown loaves, the spicy buns, the tempting rolls. Rather, we resort to the chaffy loaf from the baker, or the rolls that are not as good as the homemade bread, no matter how good they seem today. The best bakers' bread is far inferior to the homemade product, and I rejoice that breadmaking, as well as stocking-darning, is being taught in more public schools each year.

The bread-mixer makes the process so easy and simple that almost anyone can succeed in the first attempt.—Farm and Fireside.

COURAGE OF A HIGH ORDER

Officers and Privates of Regular Army Risk Almost Certain Death in Search for Comrade.

A story of daring feats in mountain climbing by two officers and two enlisted men of the First and Second regiments of infantry of the Hawaiian brigade who sought in vain to learn the fate of a private who wandered into "Hell's Pocket" in the Koolau mountains, Hawaii, has reached Washington in a report of commendation from their commanding officer, Brig.-Gen. Clarence R. Edwards, U. S. A.

The exploits of the mountain climbers are described in the officer's report as the most perilous ever recorded. They surmounted cliffs that are almost inaccessible, dangled thousands of feet in midair as they were lowered down the sides of precipices and trailed ledges where a misstep meant instant death.

The officers commended are Second Lieutenant Thomas J. Camp, Second Infantry, and Second Lieutenant M. F. Nichols, C. A. C. The enlisted men are Corporal Farmer and Private Midkiff of the Second infantry.

The detachment, with 4,000 feet of small rope, took six hours of hard climbing to reach the crest of the range, which is described as virtually a knife edge with sheer cliffs on either side.

Private Midkiff, a Kentucky mountaineer, was the first to volunteer to go down on the other side of the precipice, where the officers believed the trail led. Gen. Edwards in describing the work of the detachment said:

"Private Midkiff was swung over the cliff by a rope the size of a middle finger, followed by Lieut. Camp. Later Lieut. Nichols followed, and then Corporal Farmer. These men for three days prosecuted the search in a howling wind and gale, in driving rain and enshrouding mists, on ledges of rotten stone and vegetation, endangered by fallen boulders and rocks. A slight slip when not tied with a rope meant death.

"They were swung down to vertical pocket after pocket averaging about fifty feet. These men knew that it was impossible that the man unaccounted for would be alive, and therefore we have the fine picture of these young officers putting their lives in jeopardy several times to rescue the body of a private, the kind of work that emphasizes the interest taken by the officer in the soldier."

Gen. Edwards also gives particular praise to the work done by Private Midkiff and Corporal Farmer.

Flowers and Politics.

The election for members of the French chamber of deputies is over. The campaign in one district brought forward a poetic theme. This was in the great flower-growing district of Cannes-Grass. In the polemic outbreak of the opposing candidates were heard the words "neroli" and "petit-grain." Neroli is the commercial designation of orange flower. It is a souvenir of the Princess Neroli and the name was chosen by the producers of the department of the Maritime Alps, for to the princess was credited the establishing of the perfume industry which has since had such a remarkable development in that region. Neroli is often sophisticated by the addition of other essences. One of these is called "petit-grain," which is not of the flower, but of the leaf and fruit of the orange. This is why the two candidates shouted in the midst of the melee the cries "Neroli!" and "petit-grain!"—incomprehensible to a stranger—as were once shouted the battle cries "Montjoye!" and "Saint Denis!"

Famous American Roads.

Something over 200 years ago there was built the first great American highway, "the old York road," between New York and Philadelphia. The construction of this famous road in 1711 was an example that led the colonists at other points along the Atlantic seaboard to make similar roads where there were no water routes. For the most part these roads were built by chartered companies, and were called turnpikes or toll roads. Pennsylvania, Connecticut and New Jersey had many roads of this kind.

The first macadamized road in this country was constructed in 1792 between Philadelphia and Lancaster. In 1811 there were said to be 4,500 miles of chartered turnpikes in New England and New York. During the next 20 years the government expended many millions of dollars in constructing great highways, but the panic of 1837 and the building of highways and canals put an end to that branch of the government work.

Baby Cut Off 200 Phones.

The birth of a baby in the home of Matteo Gionotti of Merlonville, N. J., cut off all telephone service in that section for the greater part of the day, to the rage of 200 subscribers.

The boy arrived at the Gionotti home shortly after midnight. There was nobody around to help Matteo celebrate, so he grabbed his shotgun and proceeded to blow holes in the atmosphere.

Mr. Newton, the phone company's wire chief, discovered the lines were useless when he came to work early in the morning. He searched until late in the afternoon. Then, opposite Gionotti's place, he found the broken wires hanging loose from the pole, with about a pound of shot in the cross-arm. Gionotti told all about it. Newton started to swear, changed his mind, grinned, said "Hope the kid's all right," and started repairs.

Cry Is for Leaders.

There are plenty of common men. Leaders are scarce. Yet every man has in him latent potentialities which can make him famous if he will only give himself a chance. Every man has some line in which he can become a specialist. You can do some things better than your neighbor. Learn to do them better than anybody else and the world will make a place for you. It needs your peculiar genius to complete its efficiency roll. You need the reward it offers. Step out into your place and receive what is coming to you. It's only a fiction that says there is no place for you. Few live up to their possibilities.

His Art Calendar.

One of those princes with German titles, who are on the pay-roll of the British empire because they are relatives of the late Queen Victoria or the present Queen Mary, was in New York not so very long ago, and somewhow paid a visit to the studio of a well-known American artist who shall be nameless. His familiars say that ever since that high day this artist has had a novel and peculiar method of reckoning time. For instance, he will remark to a visitor:

"Ah, you are looking at that little thing over there by the window. It was begun—let's see—just two weeks after the Prince of Battenswick was here for tea."

BENTLEYVILLE

Mrs. Marcella Jones, aged 21 years the wife of Charles Jones died on Tuesday at 3:15 o'clock. Funeral services will be held on Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at the late residence, 7103 Mt. Vernon street, Pittsburg, with requiem high mass following at the Holy Rosary church at 9:30. The dead woman's husband was raised in the Bentleyville section and is well known.

Booth-Huffman.

Thursday evening the wedding of Miss Sevilla Vale Booth and J. Wilbur Huffman took place at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Alexander N. Booth. Rev. J. Calvin French, of Frenchtown, N. J., performed the wedding ceremonies. Rev. French is an uncle of the bride. Many friends and relatives were present and many gifts were showered upon the couple. After the wedding took place at 8:00 supper was served, a colored chef having been procured from Washington to prepare and supervise the meal. The bridal party ate the wedding meal in the dining room while the visitors were so numerous that they were forced to eat on the massive veranda of the Booth home. Some time after the dinner the newlyweds were taken for a ride.. A traction engine had been procured for the occasion and was pulling the carriage—an old and scarred buck wagon. The bride and bridegroom were easily induced to climb into the wagon and, with a continual blowing of the tractor's whistle, the oddly proportioned conveyance slowly traveled along the Main street. Upon the completion of all ceremonies Samuel S. Sidle started with the bride and bridgroom overland to Pittsburg in his large touring car. From that point the newlyweds will leave on an extended trip to the east. This is the second large wedding to take place in little Bentleyville during the year, the other being that of the present Mr. and Mrs. John A. Gilmore.

Supposed Attempt at Suicide.

Wednesday evening Miss Elsie Raymond, leading lady of a vaudeville troupe playing at the Grand, it is said attempted suicide by drinking carbolic acid in her room in the hotel. Another visitor at the hotel, passing along the corridor, heard a confusion in Miss Raymond's room and investigated the matter. An investigation found the actress dolorously tossing on the bed having swallowed a small vial of carbolic acid. A doctor was summoned and after several hours hard and continuous labor succeeded in saving the young lady's life. The only reason that could be ascribed to the attempt on her own life was a pretty live affair in which another damsel had averted the love of a young man in the same troupe. Miss Raymond was taken to her home in Pittsburg. It is also reported that the company broke up in Bentleyville.
